Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

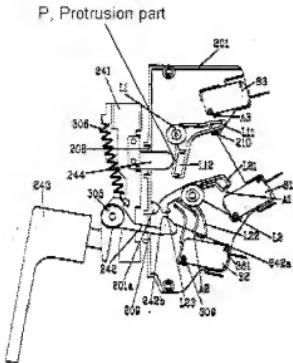

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1, 5-7, 9-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Lee et al (US 2004/0182856). Lee discloses, figures 2-3, door assembly for microwave with oven comprising a cavity (20) into which food is loaded; a door (14) for opening/closing a front side of the cavity; at least one latch (142) formed at an inner side of the door (14); a latch board (101) for supporting the latches when the latch is inserted thereinto; a monitor switch (S3) and a circuit switch (S1, S2), provided on the latch board (101), for performing on/off operation to control the microwave oven; a first lever (L2) having one end contacting with the monitor switch (Par. 0022) and the other end contacting with the latch, the first lever (L2) rotating to turn on/off the monitor switch; a second lever (L1) having one end contacting with the circuit switch (S2) and the other end contacting with the latch (142a), the second lever (L1) rotating to turn on/off the circuit switch; and a protrusion part (P1, Figure below) formed at a periphery of the first lever (L2) and protruded from a portion with which the latch (142) comes in contact, such that if the latch is inserted, the monitor switch (S3) operates before the circuit switch (S1), and if the latch is released, the monitor switch (S3) operates after the circuit switch (S1).

5. For this set of Claims 12-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Lee et al (US 2004/0182856). Lee discloses, figures 6-8, a monitor switch (S3) including a monitor button (A3) operated by a first lever (L1), an internal contact point of the monitor switch being on/off by the monitor button (A3); a circuit switch (S2) including a circuit button (A2) operated by a second lever (L2), an internal contact point of the circuit switch (S1) being on/off by the circuit button (A1); a first lever hinge for hingedly fixing the first lever (L1); a second lever hinge for hingedly fixing the second lever (L2); and a protrusion part (P, figure below) protruded from one side of the first lever (L1) in an inserting direction of a latch (244).

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

6. Claims 12-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Kim et al (US 6,521,875). Kim discloses, figure 2, microwave oven having conducting member comprising a monitor switch (MS1) including a monitor button (31) operated by a first lever (29a), an internal contact point of the monitor switch being on/off by the monitor button (31); a circuit switch (MS2) including a circuit button (32) operated by a second lever (29b), an internal contact point of the circuit switch (MS3) being on/off by the circuit button (33); a first lever hinge for hingedly fixing the first lever (29a); a second lever hinge for hingedly fixing the second lever (29b); and a protrusion part (P, figure below) protruded from one side of the first lever (29a) in an inserting direction of a latch (28a).

7. Claims 2-4 and 8 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

8. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Quang T. Van whose telephone number is 571-272-4789. The examiner can normally be reached on 8:00Am 5:00Pm M-F.
